FIRST NATIONAL BANK OF PORTLAND,

SAVINGS DEPARTMENT.

THIS BANK HAS ESTABLISHED IN CONNECTION with the general Banking business a SAVINGS DEPARTMENT and will allow Interest on Coin Deposits made in accordance with the conditions adopted by the Association

In establishing a SAVINGS DEPARTMENT this Banking Association has in view the benefits to accrue to a class of persons having small sums to loan, by providing a safe place of deposit, ample security and fair rate of interest, as well as to aggregate and bring into use idle capital

For the safety of deposits in this Bank are pledged its entire capital and resources and also the personal liability of its Directors and Stockholders, as provided by Section 12 of the National Currency Act, approved June 3, 1864, a greater security than that given by ordinary Savings Banks. Printed copies of the conditions upon which deposits are received may be had upon application at the Bank

A telegram from Oakland Oregon says that the railroad bridge at the crossing of the North Umpqua was completed last Saturday, and that the first train was crossed over by Charley Pond, road master This bridge is 200 miles south of Portland

The State Journal having said last week that a certain individual had been killed by falling down a stairway, now corrects it by saying in substance that he killed himself by drinking whisky, and adds that the correction is "cheerfully" made. We hardly see where the "cheerfulness" comes in on such occasions

From the Farmer "S G Reed, Esq, has disposed of the thoroughbred Short Horn bull calf 'Central Pacific,' to Dr W F Tolmie, of Victoria V I British Columbia, to be delivered after the State Fair The price paid is one thousand dollars The sire of Central Pacific is the celebrated bull Bismarck' (now in England) and Acacia' his dam was imported last year by Mr A H Coobran, of Canada, and is one of the fine herd purchased of him by Mr Reed and brought to the State last fall'

The Republicans held a grand ratification meeting last Saturday evening at Salem in honor of the election of Hon J H Mitchell, United States Senator A large and enthusiastic crowd were present The meeting was presided over by the Hon Rufus Mallory Mr Mitchell made a brief address acknowledging the high honor conferred upon him, thanking the many friends who had united their voices and efforts to elevate him to the honorable position of Senator and pledging his earnest and studious efforts as a Republican to maintain the party organization, and secure the complete success of its principles, and as a Senator, to serve faithfully the whole people of Oregon After Mr Mitchell, the audience was addressed by W D Hare, Esq, candidate for Presidential Elector, J F Caples, member of the House J G Wilson, member of Congress elect A B Meacham candidate for elector, Mrs A J Dunniway of the New Northwest, and others

The Daily Oregonian.

MONDAY MORNING SEPT 30 1872

A Sunday Visitor

Our citizens may have been somewhat surprised yesterday morning to find our paper paying them a Sunday visit but the great events now transpiring and the rapidity with which increased facilities bring us news from all parts of the country necessitates the publication of a paper every day to keep up with the times and while we return our connection with the Oregonian we are determined that as a newspaper it shall do just that thing

Greeley's Prospects

The progress of the Presidential campaign in the Eastern States is truly gratifying to the friends of the Administration Day after day we learn of the friends of Mr Greeley leaving him, and the prospects now are good that he will not carry more than three or four States Newspapers which have been his warmest supporters have by the dozen taken his name from the head of their columns and hoisted that of Grant or O Conor Among the standard independent periodicals of the United States which have turned from their ordinary literary course to take a part in politics, none have perhaps been as severe upon the Administration of General Grant as the Atlantic Monthly With its character for independence its writers of ability and its many thousand readers it was indisputably a powerful weapon in the hands of the enemy But that journal has now abandoned its position in favor of Mr Greeley, and says 'Our preference, and that of the American people, we trust, is for General Grant' "He," it adds, "represents success, partly military and partly political, in closing the era of civil war He is believed to be honest cautious and steady, with a reserve of intellectual power and moral purpose, which in any coming crisis of our affairs might be an invaluable aid to the country Greeley, on the other hand, though gifted with more political wisdom, a warmer heart and clearer perception of ideas and principles, is believed to be capricious, deceitful, peculiarly open to flattery and prejudice bold in opinion but timid in action, and with that indefinable something in his character which makes it impossible not to laugh at him, however much we may esteem him'

The Atlantic editor is only one of a great many of the early supporters of Mr Greeley who have become disgusted with the party which is composed of a coalition, or rather of a general mixture of elements which will not coalesce upon a platform which its builders are trying to make to mean 'all things to all men' Mr Greeley himself has shown how the platform is to be interpreted in his late raid through some of the Western States In Ohio and Kentucky his speeches contained nothing as to his personal views on "protection," but were all about the liberal stand taken in the platform upon which he was proved to stand" on that question, but as soon as he gets back into Pennsylvania among iron manufacturers where all the people are protectionists, Greeley exclaims "everybody knows I have always been a protectionist" But he deserves a credit mark for this, as it is the only sign of political sagacity he has evinced in his late tour to the — —, and we are inclined to think that could the telegraph wires from New York all speak out, some of them might tell of messages going to Mr Greeley very lately, telling him he had better quit stumping and come home There is, any way, no doubt but his forte is in chopping trees, at his Chappaqua farm, and 'raising hell' in the Tribune office His friends cannot be blind to the effect of his speech-making from the result of his efforts in Vermont and Maine They must conclude that his "bodily presence is weak," and that the prospects of victory are not all enhanced by his speeches, else they would not have recalled him so soon Republicans could have no objection to his canvassing the whole country, as everywhere he has been he has rather dampened than inspired the enthusiasm of his followers Everything indicates his overwhelming overthrow in November, but still he fails to "discern the signs of the times There is something nearly approaching sar

In the welcoming given him by Dan Voorhees and his bold and extravagant cajoleries, following as they do, the earnest denunciations of him and his candidacy uttered on the floor of Congress, is indication enough to all who may see, if they will, that it is the deliberate and premeditated purpose and plan of the Democracy to fool poor Greeley to the top of his bent Though we can hardly believe there are many of the party who have not the political foresight to see the great defeat which is to overtake him within forty days

The Crown of Republican Endeavor

The United States at the very outset of its career as a nation, secured for itself the admiring plaudits and the fervent prayers of great and good men throughout all Christendom. This it did by its radical enunciation of the doctrine of Human Equality as the basis of its political existance In its Declaration of Independence it gave a local habitation and a name to that doctrine, which had been until then only an 'airy' nothing in the dream of the poet or the vision of the sage For the sincerity of their faith in the new tenet the fathers of the republic 'pledged their lives, their fortunes and their sacred honor," and, under the guidance of Washington, they braved the perils and privations of a seven years strife in its maintenance Heaven smiled upon these gallant sacrifices and the result was that our country took its place, by general consent, in the rank of nations

As Americans we certainly have reasons to be proud of our country's origin And yet our pride must just as certainly experience a check when we recall to mind the fact that even during the period of the revolutionary struggle, chattel slavery existed in each one of the thirteen original States and that for more than three-quarters of a century afterward that baleful institution grew with the growth and strengthened with the strength of the young republic Each decade of the nation's life bore testimony in its carefully prepared census, to the continued extension of its territorial area to the constant increase of its manufacturing and agricultural interests to the ever-enlarging circle of its foreign and domestic commerce to its ready growth in wealth and material resources and sad to state to its wide and far-wide perversion in practice from that equality which it had announced as the profession of its faith and political faith

But let us not dwell upon the shortcomings of the past The census return of 1870 is not marred by the enumeration of a single slave, and the Fifteenth Constitutional Amendment proclaimed in the same year to be a part of the law of the land is a guaranty of rights to thousands of native born Americans who had until then, been unjustly disfranchised How gratifying is the fact stated by the Hon George F Hoar in his recent speech at Worcester Mass This is the first Presidential election in which every grown man of the republic has been entitled to take a part Surely in the light of this statement every American has good reason to rejoice that the inconsistencies which once disfigured our political institutions have been swept away Thus the honor of the nation has been fully vindicated and for this vindication it is indebted to the firm and persistent action of the Republican party

Will any one pretend to deny this? The Republican party first triumphant in the arena of national politics by the election of Abraham Lincoln in 1860 met and crushed the rebellious efforts which sought to disrupt the Union and to establish a confederacy of which slavery was avowed to be the foundation stone Successful in that struggle it signalized its victory by the adoption of the Thirteenth Constitutional Amendment, which prohibited slavery within the limits of the United States Three years later, by another amendment to the fundamental law of the land, it guaranteed citizenship to all persons born or naturalized in the United States and two years thereafter it evidenced its full and entire allegiance to the faith of the fathers by the Constitutional declaration that 'the right of the citizens of the United States to vote shall not be denied or abridged by the United States, or by any State, on account of race color, or previous condition of servitude' Hence, since the Democratic party was opposed to all of these Constitutional amendments it can be affirmed, without fear of successful contradiction that if an American can now read the Declaration of Independence and not blush while so doing, his thanks therefor are due to the Republican party and to the Republican party alone

The Republican party has many claims to the grateful consideration of the American people other than those suggested in this article But even if this were not the case, these alone should be sufficient to secure it a longer lease of life than certain factions are willing to accord to it It is not surprising that Democrats should desire and labor for its overthow but that men who have in days past, deserved well of the Republican party should allow themselves to be so blinded by personal ambition, or by a sense of private griefs as to strain their every energy to that same end is, indeed matter for wonder Besides their endeavor to divert the colored vote of the country in the same interest might in view of the Republican origin of that vote be fitly termed a sort of subornation of ingratitude But when we consider that if by that diversion Greeley and Brown should be elected and the Democracy restored to power the probable sequence would be the deprivation of that vote, then the endeavor of the Liberal Republicans becomes a crime against humanity somewhat difficult to characterize We might call it treason if we did not think with the elder Brutus, that treason would be too mild a term for it. For to > * * * * * direct the dagger

> To Freedom's infant throat is a deed so black
> That our fell tongue refuses it a name.

But we shall not entertain any forebodings of that nature We are confident that colored voters will never play so suicidal a part, that they will prove true to that party which has been true them, and that the friends of freedom and equality, both white and black, will labor together so earnestly as to secure, on the 5th of next November, the triumph of that ticket which bears the honored names of GRANT and WILSON

The State Fair

This annual gathering of the representatives of the varied industries of our State, which will begin to day, (Monday) will doubtless, attract thousands of people, and from the preparations made, will be the most largely patronized of any exhibition ever yet given in Oregon Many improvements have been made on the grounds, and several amendments and additions to the rules governing the institution have been adopted all of which are calculated to add to the convenience of exhibitors and tend to the preservation of good order during the Fair week The signs are indicative of a grand success to be achieved by the Society at this year's Fair

However, as a late number of the Farmer well says, 'while everything that the Society has left able to do in the way of change and improvement has been done it must not be forgotten that still much will be required Fault finding under any circumstances, will be frequent people generally forgetting that perfection in an enterprise of such magnitude can only be attained (if at all) with time and a large outlay of money Until late years the Society has been compelled to struggle against opposition, and the worst of all enemies—poverty—and only by perseverance and good management has it at all succeeded Let all who attend this year come with a resolve to render all the assistance in their power to advance the interests of the Society and to further its aims and purposes

Railroad Men

Several distinguished gentlemen connected in various relations with the great enterprise of the North Pacific Railroad are now in Portland having arrived on the trains of Saturday and Sunday We are informed that they will visit various points on the Northwest Coast before their return East From the report which they make of their trip the company of which they are members will come to some important determination in regard to the route and objective points of their road The visit of these gentlemen and their report will doubtless have the effect to attract much attention towards this part of the country and be of much benefit in drawing others thither While they are here the agitation of the question of a branch of their road to this city, might have a tendency to secure their attention to that matter more particularly than would be otherwise We extend a welcome to all men of capital proposing to undertake enterprises for the development and prosperity of the country and trust that our citizens will make the stay of these gentlemen among us pleasant

The Hon Benjamin the fifth and only unmarried daughter of Queen Victoria has been betrothed for marriage to the Marquis of Stafford So we are informed by the St Louis the union take place will give to England another royal family that to the Duke of Sutherland—in short closer union to the throne of Britain Her Majesty is a prudent mother as well as a very powerful sovereign

We are informed that a statement made by Hon G Webster a Republican State Senator from Douglas county in regard to the causes which led to the withdrawal of Mr Cockett from the Senatorial contest will be published in the course of a day or two

The editor of the Lafayette Courier is ungrateful as all his readers know For a long time after he came on the editorial stage in Oregon he took his cue entirely from Brick Pomeroy and his beau ideal of a well edited newspaper was the La Crosse Democrat from the columns of which Upton plagiarized the most of his editorials But since Pomeroy refused to be sold out at Baltimore and will not hoist the Greeley flag Upton puts on an immense amount of indignity and says Pomeroy is paid by Grant Oh incorruptible Upton He not only might learn something about journalism from Pomeroy but also much about truthfulness which virtue he utterly ignored in his brush of that story to completely disproven long ago in his last issue about certain Congressmen and the Credit Mobilier of the Union Pacific Railroad Company

From the report of the Commissioner of Agriculture for 1870 published with the Census Report of that year we learn that Oregon produces of wheat, more bushels per acre than any other State in the Union except Nevada, and that her corn crop was as much per acre as any other State except Kansas and Nebraska The average wheat crop per acre in the whole United States was 14 bushels while Oregon is counted as having produced 19 bushels per acre

True Civil Service Reform

Greeley's personal idea of civil service reform has not yet been defined and the country is not yet able to form any opinion as to what his conduct in that regard would be if left to himself in the very improbable contingency of his election, unless we judge from his letter of acceptance when he says in his appointments he would make no difference between Republicans and Democrats who should have assisted to elect him But we have undoubted proof of General Grant's ideas on this point which all will admit to be sound They are expressed in the following Order issued April 16th 1872

The Advisory Board of the Civil Service having completed the grouping contemplated by the rules already adopted, have recommended certain provisions for carrying the rules into effect

The recommendations, as herewith published are approved, and the provisions will be enforced as rapidly as the proper arrangements can be made, and the thirteenth of the rules adopted on the 14th day of December last is amended to read as published herewith

The utmost fidelity and diligence will be expected of all officers in every branch of the public service Political assessments as they are called have been forbidden still in the various Departments and while the right of all persons in official position to take part in politics is acknowledged and the elective franchise is recognized as a high trust to be discharged by all entitled to its exercise, whether in the employment of the Government or in private life I hereby add (if necessary, FOR POLITICAL ACTIVITY), will determine the tenure of office U S GRANT

By the President HAMILTON FISH Secretary of State

THE OAKES AMES SLANDER Upon this subject the New York Commercial Advertiser of yesterday says

'The Tribune and Herald continue to be the echoes of the Sun This is getting down in the gutter From day to day they repeat the stale and exploded slanders of Oakes Ames's stuff These high toned journals seem to be practicing on the old axiom that a lie well stuck to is as good as the truth They call upon Messrs Wilson, Blaine, Dawes, Garfield and others, to whom it is alleged Oakes Ames gave certain shares in the Credit Mobilier to interest them in the Pacific Railroad bills before Congress to come forward and clear their skirts of the charge These gentlemen respond under their own hand and seal, and pronounce the scandalous stories of the Sun false. The parties against whom these slanders are hurled are gentlemen of known uprightness and purity of character They meet the calumnies with a flat denial With men of honor these denials are a full answer, but how is it with these scavengers of the Press? In one breath they call upon Oakes Ames to speak out' In the next breath they announce that his mere contradiction will answer How then are these infamous slanders to be met? On what stand and before what jury shall the accused be placed to secure a fair hearing? Here is the Sun, that has just had the Dix he crowded down its ulcerated throat put on the stand as a witness Here is Henry Wilson, whose character for integrity never before was as perused Here are Dawes, Blaine, and Garfield eminent for their services and public virtue They have never been branded as liars Here stands the case The public is an intelligent jury and will decide properly

Horace White, though still a young man, has achieved a position among the foremost journalists of this or any other country No one who knows him will believe him guilty of intentional falsehood—New York Tribune

Well, then taking the Tribune at its word this 'young man, Horace White who is in capable of intentional falsehood must have told the honest truth when only a few weeks ago, he wrote and published the declaration that 'Horace Greeley is not now and never has been a man who ought to be trusted with an official position requiring practical wisdom ordinary statesmanship or firm consistent action' And he must also have spoken the honest truth when, several months previously, he wrote and published the declaration that it makes no difference with how much apparent earnestness he (Greeley) may advocate a principle the moment it becomes possible to put that principle in practical operation that moment Greeley is certain to dodge off and begin a negotiation with its beaten enemy Old Horace by these endorsing young Horace as a truth teller condemns himself

RUNAWAY BOYS —Officer Kelly last evening at 5 and 9 o'clock, perceived two lads, apparently about fifteen and seventeen years respectively, down on Front street, who he thought acted a little suspiciously Carefully avoiding observation Kelly followed these juveniles The boys appeared to avoid the light and skulked along in the shade as far as possible At last they came under the full light of a street lamp The officer, by his supplies, saw that these interesting young men were black, not that there was anything remarkable in that circumstance, except that their faces were white. Observing more closely the officer saw that their hair was straight long and coarse He knew at once that these "hoodlums" were on some errand, and so he continued to follow them Up at the corner of Yamhill and Front st, Kelly overhauled and arrested the boys He took them to the police station and locked them up, for what purpose They were locked up in a dark cell for the night, and will be examined before Judge Denny in the morning The object of these boys in thus disguising themselves was to enter some house to pilfer These boys are of known bad character one of them having already served out twenty three days in the county jail for cutting off a Chinaman's queue They should be dealt with severely We suppress their names.—The car in which the Hon John H Mitchell, Senator elect, arrived yesterday was gaily decked in bunting and looked very picturesque The friends of the Honorable gentleman were exceedingly enthusiastic and made the train resound with their applause and good fellowship Railery We congratulate the gentleman on his success, and we know he will be a credit to the State in the august body in which he is to represent us Some time during this week the Honorable gentleman will be serenaded by his friends, and a meeting will be held to do him honor We cordially accede to the gentleman all the merit and the only wish is that the toga he wears may enhance in him with fame

NEARLY UPSET —Yesterday as two carriages were driven on the Stark street ferry boat one of the teams became frightened and started to run back. The vehicle collided with another before any one could interfere the other buggy was upset A gentleman and lady were seated in it. Both were thrown out but fortunately escaped with a few bruises and scratches Several men caught the teams and held them by main force until the scare and confusion was over The buggy was righted and found to be uninjured

A NOVEL SIGHT —A novel sight, and one which drew crowds at all hours of the days, can be seen at the show window of Messrs Gill Steel & Co It represents a photographic gallery, without being a monkey The sitter, also a monkey, is a lady The likeness is taken, and during the sprinkling, from the shaking of the head of the sitter's mouth, to be at all satisfactory, is again taken, with the same result ad infinitum The show attracted a great crowd of admirers

CHALLENGED —The gauntlet thrown down a few days ago by the owner of the Fleetwing, has been promptly taken up by the owner of the Owl The friends of the former craft challenges the latter for a trial of the sailing powers of the two yachts for the 75 miles from this city to the mouth of the Willamette and back again We expect soon to be able to chronicle a lively contest upon this occasion that the challenge has met with a prompt response

DEAD —The little wolf which was found some time ago on the front doorstep of the residence of W W Piper and which was afterwards given up to the county authorities, died a few days ago Truly it was a waif in this lower world, for whence came it remains and must remain clothed in a mystery which no human eyes can penetrate Of its parents and God can solve

FOOT CUT —We learn that a man while engaged in chopping wood several miles from the city, a few days ago, met with a severe accident He was chopping off a limb when the axe glanced and struck his left foot, inflicting a severe wound The foot was pretty badly gashed but fortunately no bone was severed. A physician was sent for and the wound dressed

Salem has an unusual array of amusement people for this week.

Vivian will give entertainments on the Fair grounds this week in connection with the "Humpty Dumpty Troupe"

THEY HAVE EM —If you have made up your mind to array yourself in a new outfit and are desirous of getting the latest styles, best goods and lowest prices you can not do better than call and select from the fresh importations which Mr Schorr has been buying in San Francisco for the house of J O'Neil & Co No 86 First street They have without doubt the finest goods ever offered to the public Guess in the windows; go further look inside Comment is unnecessary

RETURNED —Mr Charles Fishel of Fishel & Rothchild who has been absent for some time past in San Francisco selecting new goods arrived on the steamer He brings the best selected stock of goods ever brought to this city No pains have been spared to procure the finest goods and the public may rest assured that they will find the latest styles and most elegant goods ordered in this city to be the new stock just received Each steamer will bring something new for this house.

ALL IN ONE.—Quinn the indefatigable has made a new move The First street stand has been closed and his up town customers will find him at his old stand where many improvements have been made If you want Canned Fish or anything that is good go to Quinn's Union Fish Market, Washington street, between First and Second

Every one should know that the panacea which has stood the test of nearly half a century of trial in the cure of coughs colds, bronchitis influenza and whooping cough is Dr Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry It maintains in the fullest degree its well earned reputation All sufferers should try it

WILD CHERRY PECTORAL —The memory of Dr Wistar is embalmed in the hearts of thousands of whom his BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY has cured of coughs colds consumption or some other form of pulmonary disease It is now over forty years since this preparation was brought before the public, and yet the demand for it is constantly increasing

UPHAM'S FRESH MEAT CURE FOR CONSUMPTION And all Bronchial and Pulmonary affections carefully prepared from the formula of Prof Trousseau of Paris who used it with such astonishing efficacy in the hospitals of that city as to attract the attention of the faculty to its wonderful merits

It is now used here with like great efficacy giving new life to many hopeless cases following all

LOCAL BREVITIES

Collection day

Everybody Fairward

Almost delightful day

Are you going to the Fair

No moon last night but plenty of stars

The steamer to East Port and is crowded every trip

The hotels are unusually full for this season of the year

All the churches in the city were well attended yesterday

Numbers of persons leave the city this morning for the Fair

For the past few weeks the city has been unusually healthful

The Theater Comique Company are going to Salem to morrow

It is noteworthy that white washing is generally done by black men

The Portlanders were out yesterday in unusually large numbers

J Ross Browne of California is now touring it through the Eastern States

Just six years ago the steamer Julia Troup was launched at Vancouver

The new Trinity Church will be ready to be furnished in about one month

The number of people visiting East Portland yesterday was unusually large

The tower over the new Central School House is one of the most handsome in the city

The performance at the Canyon Gardens announced for yesterday has been postponed

The entire boards or planks in this city are now covered with advertisements This don't pay

Light fingered gentlemen have commenced to raise chickens—by means of warm shingles

The attendance at the churches yesterday was unusually large What a moral people we are

The recent supplementary heated term has to some extent checked the influx from out of town

Ex Gov Curry assumed the editorial chair of the Oregon Spectator just twenty three years ago

The clearing away of the river beach would be an excellent thing for the hotels as it is filled with old lumber

All the roughs and professional thieves of the city will soon be en route for the Fair, all intent on making "a stake"

Every available space on the side of fences and buildings is covered with all kinds of advertisements This don't pay

A great many persons are flocking overland to invest in what they suppose to be the future terminus of the Northern Pacific Railroad

Numerous parties with guns and dogs were seen wending their way to the woods yesterday It meant destruction to the feathered denizens

The proper term for the chain by which the ladies suspend their fans, ninaigrettes umbrellas, and the like to their girdles is La Voyageuse

The gentlemen connected with the N P R R, who arrived yesterday will be here for the next two weeks, hence our interview is postponed

An "S with a T P" is the latest slang synonym for all that is shrink and affected What these mysterious symbols mean none but the illuminati know

A large number of persons are making inquiries concerning the State of Oregon in the East We refer them to them to the works of well known authority for the resources of the country

The old saying is What everybody says must be true and everyone says that Buck & Waldman have the largest and best selected stock of the latest styles and patterns in gentlemen's Clothing and Furnishing Goods in the city of Portland They have the largest variety of Boys Youths and Children's Suits all which will be sold according to the times Please call and satisfy yourself that we will not be undersold by anyone

Natural Decay—Protect the System

The human body is a machine and therefore cannot endure forever but like a watch or new machine, it will last much longer if properly regulated and duly repaired than if no pains were taken to keep it in order The great object of every one who desires a long and healthy life should be to put his body in a condition to resist the life threatening influences by which we are all more or less surrounded and no invigorant and corrective at present known so effectively answers this purpose as the vitality imparting elixir which under the appropriate name of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters has been for more than two years a standard article of American confidence where this agency will reckon with disease in those populous districts where the atmosphere is contaminated with the effluvia incapable from large populations in marshy regions where the spongy soil reeks with miasma on the prairies and in the forests where over fall the air is tainted with exhalations from rotting weeds and grasses or decomposing leaves—in short, in every locality where malaria exists this powerful vegetable antidote is urgently needed Fever and ague Bilious fevers dysentery congestion of the liver jaundice rheumatism and all diseases which are generated by infected air impure water or sudden changes of temperature may be averted by strengthening and regulating the system in advance with Hostetter's Bitters Autumn is always a season of peril especially to weak susceptible organizations Even the more vigorous are apt to be in some measure depressed by the humid atmosphere loaded with deleterious gases produced by vegetable decay This fall is a period of fatality when the use of some reliable and regulating tonic living machine is peculiarly important and the Bitters should therefore be taken daily at this critical season

The Story of a Hero s Death

The London Daily Telegraph in its issue of September 5, says

Noble as is the tale of the Birkenhead it finds its parallel in the account of the death of Paul Elson English pilot in charge of the ship Rothesay On the 29th of July this vessel, which had three days before cast off the Calcutta tug and steamed safely out of the horrible jungles and swamps of the Sunder b s, was caught by a cyclone On the 30th she lay a wreck all hope of saving her long past. Then the pilot, Paul Elson, the one man who seems to have had his wits about him—collected a few volunteers and rigged a raft. Thirteen only of the crew got on her the rest were frantic with terror—some praying others drunk others raving others lashed in extricably to the sinking vessel Elson was the last to leave the ship leaping over board he swam to the raft cut the hawser that held her and constituted himself by inherent right her sole officer Within an hour the doomed vessel heeled lurched heavily and went down head first All that day and all that night the raft drifted heavy seas breaking over her We were up to our necks in water says he man who tells the tale, for she floated low All that night, nevertheless Elson who was a powerful swimmer, swam round and round the raft lashing her together and strengthening her as best he could Ever and anon the furious breakers washed a man off And then would the brave pilot who had not only the heart but the strength of a giant strike out toward him and carry the drowning wretch back But at last it became apparent that the raft must be broken up and that a second and smaller raft must be constructed to relieve the other This too the pilot effected almost single-handed The large raft floated away into the night Elson and three other men took to the smaller, while on the other drifted away a native boy Paul Elson s servant of whom hitherto in the midst of all his terrible toil the brave pilot had never once lost sight He kept near him he tended him as a mother would tend her child he gave him our last supply of drinkable water The vessel had sunk on the 29th of July, it was now the 2d of August The raft was drifting under a raging tropical sun for three days there had been no food no water, worse than this, the frail support itself began to break up and, swimming about in a heavy surf, Paul Elson became much exhausted The end of course could not now be far off First one of the men was washed away, and then another until Elson himself and the Scotchman who tells the story were the sole survivors Pilot, said I—so the narrative runs—we must fight it through! 'Oh, Fraser' answered he, I can t hold out any longer. Then a heavy sea broke upon us and knocked him off I found it impossible to hang on, and was forced to let him go And so the story ends The body of Pilot Elson worn out by his unceasant labors, floats away into the great deep there to lie till the sea shall give up its dead For hour after hour he had labored and toiled wasting himself and his strength in the effort to succor those whom he had under his charge, A hundred times over he forgot to think of himself, he broke his great heart in an obstinate effort to save, not him self, but the others All night he swam round the raft tightening a rope here, wedging a spar there, when the native boy was delirious he handed him the last drop of water when hope grew desperate his cherry voice brought back fresh life and strength to the desolate and at last when all his strength is gone when those stout limbs were cold and numbed and well nigh dead and faintness, brought on by the deluging salt spray and the dreadful blinding sun, has set in—even then the brave man dies as he ought to have died—ending nobly I told him says Fraser that if he couldn t hold on I would lash him He then made some exclamation about his poor wife and said "I will try to stand it but a huge wave rearing its hundred foaming crests against the skies, washes Paul Elson off—his body to the deep, his soul to his God

Mexican Commerce

The New York Mercantile Journal of the 14th inst has the following remarks in relation to Mexican commerce

The fertile but unfortunate country known as Mexico, has so long experienced the ravages of war and a chronic state of revolution that it has been quite impossible to develop her vast resources Besides the country has been lacking in railroads canals and telegraphs to afford means of communication and the necessary facilities for transportation so essential to her prosperity Even statistics in regard to the extent of her trade are very meager and have never been systematized or collected with any degree of accuracy It is impossible from such imperfect data to obtain reliable information of her progress or proficiency in industrial pursuits In some respects at least the nation has retrograded from the position in which her conqueror Cortez found her in the time of Montezumas History records that the natives cultivated the finest of cotton and had delicate fabrics of woven goods many of which were richly decorated with the gaudy plumage of tropical birds They were also skilled workers in copper iron, and the precious metals As near as can be ascertained the entire foreign commerce of Mexico has within the present century never exceeded $40 000 000 per annum including both imports and exports The entire trade of the United States with that country is only about one-fourth of the whole amount the average of imports reaching about double the exports Our imports from Mexico consist of coffee cochineal hides dyewoods horse hair cocoa fruits gold silver argols wools &c Exports are corn wheat flour chemicals oil salt boots and shoes agricultural implements and notions Great Britain has for a long time enjoyed almost a monopoly of the trade with Mexico and her merchants supply one third the manufactured articles used in that country In hardware dry goods clothing, and many kinds of money goods they have heretofore been almost without competition The recent advance in coal and metals in England the enhanced price of labor and the yearly increasing cost of living are likely to change the aspect of affairs and give our producers an opportunity of securing a greater proportion of this lucrative trade than has previously fallen to their share The shipments of cotton goods from England to Mexico have for several years past reached nearly $10 000 000 per annum In return she has received nearly the entire exports of precious metals which amount to about $3 000 000 Her silver mines are acknowledged to be the richest and most productive in the world but as at present conducted the entire yield is only $12 000 000 yearly It is said they can be made to produce five times that sum

Switzerland exports $5 000 000 worth of cheese a year that being almost the only article of export from the country
